

Ear, Nose, and Throat

Almost everyone can benefit from compounded medication

If you are having difficulty treating a chronic or acute condition of the ear(s), nose, and/or throat (ENT), your ENT specialist or primary care physician may prescribe a medication not offered at a traditional pharmacy. These prescriptions often contain hard-to-acquire ingredients, require a specialized formulation, or utilize a unique delivery mechanism. We can meet those specialized needs with medicinal compounds designed just for you.

Specialized ENT compounds are ideal for patients seeking to treat ailments such as:

- Chronic sinusitis (inflammation of the sinus cavities)
- Chronic sinus infections (bacterial or fungal)
- Acute sinus infections requiring non-oral antibiotics

- Nasal allergies
- Tinnitus (ringing in the ears)
- Inflammation, infection, or itching in the ear canal
- Ulcers of the mouth or gums
- Stomatitis ulcers
- Sore throat

Our compounds can be made into capsules for nasal irrigation or nebulization, rinses, nasal sprays, oral suspensions, ointments, gels, and more!

We provide customized offerings for:

- Antimicrobials and antifungals
- Pain relief
- Decongestants, antihistamines, and anti-inflammatories
